Christkindl Market

Call for Volunteers

Merry Greetings from the Atlanta Christkindl Market™!

The Atlanta Christkindl Market™ is a holiday event hosted by the German American Cultural Foundation, a 501(c)(3) non-profit dedicated to raising cultural awareness and exchange between German-speaking countries and the United States to help strengthen transatlantic relations.

Call for Volunteers

The Christkindl Market is one of Germany's oldest cultural traditions – and it takes a wonderful, dedicated team to successfully run this holiday event. And that is why we need you – yes, YOU!

Are you German? American? Someone interested in learning and/or teaching about the German culture? Are you someone fond of diversity and multiculturalism? Or just someone fond of spreading Holiday cheer during this time of year? If you answered yes to ANY of these questions, we would highly encourage you to join our volunteer team! We need a group of festive, committed, and globally aware volunteers to help our non-profit provide an unforgettable experience to over 500,000 Atlanta people at Atlantic Station this December!

Christkindl Market

The German American Cultural Foundation will provide you with an Official Volunteer Certificate and the chance to meet with members of our board, all of which work in internationally renowned companies ranging from Porsche to Arnall Golden Gregory LLP. This is a fantastic way to build your resume and meet an amazing group of people while getting the chance to explore the German culture!

We highly encourage anyone interested to contact us at:
